Flood Kills 200, Loss In Billions

Wrecked Homes, Damaged Factories In Wake Of Torrential U.S. Disaster

NEW YORK (CP) — A staggering job of rehabilitation faced flood-wrecked communities of the northeast United States today as stunned survivors found the death toll steadily mounting toward the 200 mark.

The known dead already number 186. An additional victims are discovered the final count may go well above this figure, authorities estimate.

Property damage in the hardest hit areas alone will be in the billions. An estimate a total of no more than 20 persons still missing.

DAMAGE WAS SO VAST that only the broadest estimates of property damage in the hardest hit areas can be attempted.

Homes were wrecked or completely gone; factories were damaged, some were ruins and whole communities were shaken.

Health hazards have become a major problem. Flood survivors in need shelter are being moved into new quarters. Emergency anti-typhoid inoculations are being given. Initial immunization is by injection.

ON TOP OF all their other problems, many flood survivors will soon be unemployed as factories

Mother-To-Be Among Persons Beaten By Thugs

Police Force Plans Crackdown On Teen-Age Hoodlums

A pregnant woman, her father, and two young men were beaten by teen-age thugs Saturday night in two separate instances of violence.

The trouble, including a homicide, were arrested by detectives Sunday and charged with assault occasioning actual bodily harm. Police said the arrests are expected to follow.

APPEARING in police court Monday morning were Dennis, 18, 1014 12th Ave. W.; James Kingsley, 18, of 1012 12th Ave. W.; Lawrence Barry, 17, 1412 20th Ave. W., and Ronald Lee Hamilton, 18, of 1008 12th Ave. W. Barry and Ronald will face juvenile charges.

Mrs. Beverly O'Donald told Provincial Judge C. H. Dymond the Herald today's crackdown on teen-age thugs was forthcoming.

There is enough on record for an attack on a group of "hoodlums" who have been terrorizing people who have found out if they had better forget them. Unprovoked attacks, property damage and assaults are the charges.

MRS. BEVERLY O'Donald, her husband Cyril, and her father Archie Henderson, 55, all of 2201 5th Ave. N.W., were driving in their auto when a car load of youths drove up beside them at 5th Ave. and 19th St. W. About 11 p.m. Saturday.

They started to argue with and pummel Mr. O'Donald because he refused to give them his car, control, brake and steering and left him lying on the street. When Mrs. O'Donald went to intervene on her father's behalf, she was struck.

SHE WAS THROWN to the pavement and kicked in the abdomen, her husband said. Mr. Henderson received a gash on the head when he was struck by a bottle. The youths picked up their car and roared away.

Police have been investigating for the attack, Henderson and Mrs. O'Donald said. Police have strong clues, leading and extensive questioning was taken to General Hospital where Morris exhibited and released after emergency treatment. Mrs. O'Donald is under the care of a doctor.

Police said they are members of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, Calgary Regiment, who were in camp at Sarcee Camp.

Assault on Ronald Lee Hamilton, 18, of 1008 12th Ave. W., was reported to police by Hamilton's parents.

Hamilton told police he was attacked by two men who joined Dale Scully, 215 Mission Road (right) looks on, but Christopher Victor, 8, who rescued three men who joined Dale from death Sunday in an Elbow River swimming hole near 30th Ave., James Little, 226-25th Ave. W., found the boy's inert form in deep water. P. Ingram, 1416 2nd St. S.W., rowed him to shore and applied the artificial respiration that saved his life. Attended Parkdale, 2103 Elbow Drive, called in the ambulance. Dale is in hospital for at least five minutes.

Farm Market Board Bill Similar To Former Plan

Marler Is Opposed To 51 p.c. Voting Scheme

BY BILL DREVER

EDMONTON — Representing more than 50,000 farmers in Alberta, Roy C. Marler, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, today asked members of the provincial agriculture committee for legislation which is in force in six other Canadian provinces relating to marketing boards. This would provide for the establishment of Alberta boards for most farm commodities.

Mr. Marler was the first person to appear before the provincial agriculture committee of the Legislature as the hearings opened this morning. Other representations will be heard from the Farmers' Union of Alberta, the Western Stock Growers' Association, the Alberta Dairymen's Association, the Canadian Silverbrook Association, the Alberta Council of the Canadian Beef Cattle Breeders' Association and others.

THE HEARINGS are expected to last through Monday and possibly into Tuesday. After all persons from the various organizations have been heard, the agriculture committee will discuss the representations and then refer their findings to the Legislature.

Premier E. C. Manning said today the marketing legislation, which it is he understood will be contained in Bill No. 4 which is before the Legislature, is "almost identical" to the bill which came before the House at the last session of the Legislature.

The original bill to provide marketing boards were outlined first in the Nov. 15, 1954 speech from the throne delivered by Lieutenant-Governor J. J. C. Bowlen.

Premier Manning said he understood agricultural products as hay, cereals, potatoes, vegetables, hogs, vegetables, honey, cheese commercial milk and cream.

THE PLAN would not become operative until a majority of persons interested in the designated commodity vote in favor of it. Two-thirds of these persons had voted in favor of the plan in the 1949 plebiscite.

The original bill gave the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council power to determine what persons were interested and to appoint a board of five members, and that the purpose of the bill was to promote the orderly marketing in the province of agricultural products.

The bill would also provide for the setting up of a fund which would be used to initiate marketing schemes and to which contributions could be made.

The bill stated that the section of the act relating to the control of 51 per cent of the eligible votes cast in favor of the scheme before it could be put into effect may have resulted from a misunderstanding of the act as it was originally drafted and that it has been carefully studied and representations made to the government of the Legislature, then we suggest the following amendments to the act to overcome the difficulties.

MR. MARLER said, "we do not know of any thought given to the 51 per cent clause. We do not know why it was put in. We do not ask or want compulsion. We believe that we can think it is fair for the Legislature to provide that a majority of those voting shall decide. We do not favor 51 per cent of those eligible to vote. We believe that we can obtain a majority of those who will vote without compulsion. We believe that a majority of those who will vote is more democratic and more reasonable in this instance.

"We are strongly against, both in principle and practice, compulsory voting based on those eligible to vote for the purpose of deciding the issue of a marketing scheme."

Mr. Marler said the officials of each of the AFA in the rural constituencies "have been polled during the last year and a half, this question has been discussed."

"WE DO NOT believe producers of any agricultural product will be interested in, nor will they support, any plan with this provision in it. We believe that the method of voting embodied in the legislation, that is the majority vote in the checking of approval of a plan is the most democratic way of voting. In other words, if it is fair either to those who favor a plan or those who oppose a plan."

Thinking in mind that the farmers are interested in the marketing of any product, must approve any plan before it is put into effect before the legislature becomes operative, Mr. Marler said, "we suggest that the only purpose of this Legislature to hear in this matter is to establish the machinery." Surely "we do not feel that the Legislature should be asked to vote on the merits of any plan. We are not interested in vote on important matters affecting the welfare of our own industry and who have studied the matter carefully."

"WE CANNOT conceive of the necessity of more than 51 per cent approval of those eligible to vote in order to put a plan into effect. Such a vote is democratic and completely place this legislature in the hands of the producers. We thought that this would be the most democratic method of voting. We are opposed to referendums, and that the purpose of the bill is to give the power of legislation on the part of the producers to the Legislature."

Mr. Marler said that the bill as drafted only two initiated marketing schemes could be put into effect. Only one could prevail.

"We suggest that this section of the act be changed to provide that of 51 per cent of the eligible votes cast, 51 per cent of those votes must be in favor of the scheme before it can be put into effect. We suggest that this section of the act be changed to provide that of 51 per cent of the eligible votes cast, 51 per cent of those votes must be in favor of the scheme before it can be put into effect.

"IT IS NOT necessary to add that, had the 51 per cent of those eligible to vote clause been in the original bill, the farmers would not be in the dreadful position they are in today. The Canadian Wheat Board would be completely booked. It would not be necessary to sell wheat to the U.S.S.R. and to the SU.A.V. of the government of Yugoslavia. We would have had the benefit of 31 per cent of the eligible votes cast, and the remaining 31 per cent was 31 per cent abstentions."
